

IMPREGNATED CERAMIC CORE AND METHOD OF MAKING

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An impregnated fired, porous ceramic core for use in an investment casting shell mold in the casting of molten metals and alloys is strengthened by impregnating the core with an aqueous emulsion of water-insoluble polymer followed by drying to remove the water.